

Call For Applications

Overview

Young people in America are coming of age in a political moment unlike any we have seen before. Politics in the United States has always been rough and tumble, but lately it has taken a more frightening turn. These days, it seems we talk past rather than to one another. Reason and persuasion – the pillars of our liberal democracy – are being replaced by anger and intimidation.

Opportunity

There is an organization that believes what unites us as Americans is still stronger than that which divides us. We are No Labels, and we are looking for the nation's most talented and dedicated students to join our No Labels Youth Congress. The No Labels Youth Congress is an exclusive opportunity for young people to receive the inside scoop on the inner workings of our nation's capital and gain the tools and inside experience they need to build a career in politics and civil service. As a Youth Congress delegate you will receive a political education that cannot be found anywhere else, with an opportunity to gain experience across several disciplines, interact with members of Congress, business and community leaders, and help build a grassroots movement across the country. Most importantly, you'll develop lifelong connections with other young people across the country who, like you, want to change America for the better.
